The New York Light Guard and the Sons of New England on their way to Plymonth-Reception in Boston, &c.

The Sons of New England did not leave New York in a body, as was expected, many having preferred to go alone. In some cases this was very dessrable, as several were accompanied by their families. Tomorrow, however, they will all assemble at Plynouth, and unite in the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner-stone. Here they will be joined by the New York Light Guard, who, as you know, had volunteered, before leaving New York, to act as

This gallant company of citizen soldiers left the city about five o'clock on Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Dodworth's band, numbering thirty-five ments. As they marched from their armory to the steamboat Connecticut, which was waiting to receive them at the foot of Cortlandt street, their martial appearance and the admirable training for which they are distinguished among the military companies of New York, atttacted general attention and remark. The pier was crowded with spectators, who manifested no ordinary interest in the occasion which had attracted so many of our most prominent citizens to that bleak but deeply interesting spot where, more than two centuries ago, the Pilgrim fathers first landed. It was but right that New York should testify by some act, the interest her people feel in the colebration of an event which must be regarded as one of the most important in the history of the world. Justly regarding the comme-moration of the anniversary of the departure of the Pilgrim fathers from Delft Haven, as a national and not a local matter-as something in which the whole country might take a part-they resolved on accompanying the sons of New England. As one of the oldest military companies in the city—tracing their or-ganization as far back as 1798—they may properly be regarded as the representatives of our citizen The moment it was proposed that they should be present at the celebration, there was a general expression of assent to the proposition, and everything was prepared for their departure. The best band in New York, or perhaps in the United States, was engaged to accompany them, and no expense was spared in making the necessary preparations. The spared in making the necessary preparations. The Washington Artillery of Boston deputed one or two of their number to visit New York, and tender them their hospitalities, and make arrangements for their reception on their arrival here.

At five o'clock, as I have said, the Light Guard left New York, the band playing national and other airs as the boat passed up the East river. The scene on board was most animated, and the evening was passed so pleasantly that the hours flew by unnoticed, as a short concert was played by the band for the amusement of the ladies, of whom there was a large number on board, and some of the gentlemen prolonged the entertainment by singing several excellent songs.

About two o'clock this morning the company ar-prolonged the entertainment by singing several excellent songs.

About two o'clock this morning the company arrived at Worcester, where they took the train for this city. On their arrival here they were received by the Washington Artillery, who escorted them to the Revere House, where rooms had previously been provided for them. This company is one of the best in Boston, and is under the command of Captain Bullock.

ARRIVAL OF THE NEW YORK LIGHT GUARD—EXCITE

From the Boston Res. Angust I.]

AIRIVEL OF THE NEW YORK LIGHT GUARD—EXCITE

MENT AMONG THE MILITARY.

The New York Light Guard, Captain Vincent, arrived in our city pesterday merning, by the Norwich line, accompanied by Bed worth's Bress Rand. The Washington Artibery, Captain W. W. Buillock, were in waiting at the depot, to tender the New York corps an exect. There was also in attendance a committee of the Boston Light Infantry. The Light Guard were escorted to the Revere House, where they arrived at eight o'clock.

There is no little excitement in connection with this affair. It is uncersated that the New York corps were the "legitimate guests" of the Boston Light Infantry, and that if a public repeation was to take place, it would be given by them. The Guards authorized one of their corps, Lieutement Stetsen, of the Astor House, to proceed to Boston and make such arrangements for the reception of the corps as might be thought desirable. Accordingly Mr. Stetsen arrived in our city on Friday last, and insucciately consulted with Capt Ashiey and others, of the infantry. It was arranged, is accordance with the known and expressed sentiments of both companies, that, in consideration of the day, (Sunday,) and the custom and feeling of the citizens, that no unbig parade should be made on their arrival. A delegation of the infanry was to be in waiting at the depot, to tender all proper escort.

In the meantume, Capt. Bullock, who was in New York, went to Capt. Vincent and tendered him the escert of his company. That appears to have been accepted, as Capt. B. in mediately telegraphed to the insange officers of his company. The appears to have been a excepted, as Capt. B. in mediately telegraphed to the insange officers of his company. The order was obeyed. On reaching the city the escot was performed.

The circumstance has given rise to an excited state of feeling smoog all three corps. We simply give the facts as gashered from various sources. There appears to have been a misunderstanding in the motive of its.

THE NEW YORK LIGHT GUARD.

7 Yesterday morning as 9 o'clock, the New York Light Guard, Company A, 12th Regiment, Captain Edward Vinceat, performing secort duty to the Pilgrim Saciety of New Yers, arrived in this city by the Norwich train. They had been delayed on board the steamer-Connecticut two hoors, by foggy weather on the Sound. They were received on their arrival by the Washington Artillery, Captain Bullock, thuty eight guns, and escorted to the Revere House, where they were afferwards waited upon by Captain O. D. Ashley, and other officers of the Soaton Light Infantry, who invited them to attend Divine service at the Brattle Square Church. Owing to the latemest of their arrival they were obliged to decline the invitation, but the B. L. L. actended church. Rev. Dr. Latence was not present, his pulpit being supplied by another clergyman. The New York Light Guard numbered fifty-eight rank and file. The officers are Captain Edward Vincent: First Lieutanant Charles A. Stetson; Second Lieutenant David D. Hart; Third Lieutenant acting Horstio N. Hewett, Fourth Lieutenant George W. McLean; Surgeon. — Allen. Lieutenant Hewitt, we believe, was formerly a member of the Tigers, in this city. The corps was accompanied by Dodworth's Band, thirty-four pieces. The fine appearance of the company attracted much attention Their last visit to this city was in 1843, at the Bunker Hill celebration. In the afternoon at half-past three o clock, the corps and Pilgrim Society, with others from the city, proceeded to Plymouth.

THE MILITARY AT CHURCH.

The Boston Light Infantry, Capt. Ashley attended service yesterday, at the Brattle square Church, in full uniform. It was expected that the New York Light Guard would accompany them, but through the misunderstanding alluced to above, they did not do so. The Infantry therefore marched from the Revers House to the church, where they occupied a portion of the body of the house. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Myrick, late of the Cambridge Divinity school. An excellent sermon was preached, from Ephesians, 4th chapter, 15th verse.

PREPARATIONS AT PLYMOUTH—THE APPEARANCE OF THE TOWN—GROWD OF VISITERS, ETC.

A correspondent of the Boston Chronicle, writing from Plymouth July 31st, gives the following particulars:—

The celebration which takes place here to-morrow, to commemorate the departure of the Pligriam from Delft Haven in 1620, will be the grandest affair ever witnessed in this section of the commonwealth; the most retensive arrar generals having been made by the committee of management and by the citizens generally, to carry out the celebration in a manner worthy the occasion. Never have we seen such a general feeling and enthusiasm in favor of any measure of this kind, or a more universal determination to carry its out successfully, toan is evinced by the poople of this usually quiest town. At every available point on the route of the procession sateful and extensive decarations have been erected, and the whole town presents a gala day appearance, very different from what we would look for in the sedate home of the Parivans.

The decorations have been mostly put up under the tasteful directions of Mr. William Beals, and so great it to general desire not to be outdone in the way of ornament, that in order to fulfil his orders be, with his assistants, have been actively employment all cay to day (Sunday) in harging up bunding, arranging festions, acc., with the gool deacons looking on approvingly, and, noted, using a hand

The town has been filled up for a week past, and the arrivals of Saturday and to day have completely exhausted all the means of accommodation that the town is possessed of—not a nock or a corner remains unoccupied. The trains on Saturday brought down about a thousand persors, who have been distributed all over the town, the officers of hospitalities, as long as a vacant place remains unoccupied. T

Accounts from Plymouth this morning state that the town is filled to overflowing with thousands from all parts of the country, to attend the Pilgrim celebration. The yesterday afternoon and proceeded to the quarters provided for them. The whole town is covered with arches, mottoes and decorations.

THE HOUSE PAINTERS' STRIKE—FORMATION OF A PROTECTIVE TRADE UNION.
The members of the New York House Painters' Besefit and Protective Society, held their regular meeting in Convention Hall last evening, Mr. J. H. Coppins in the chair. Reporters were not admitted at this stage of the proceedings; but shortly after eight o'clock the doors were journeymen now on strike an opportunity of considering the best measures to be adopted with regard to their present relations towards the losses. There are nearly three hundred men on strike, owing to a sudden dete miration of the employers to reduce their wages from $2 to $1.75 per day. There were about one hundred and fifty present at the meeting, which was organized by electing Mr. Thomas Sunderland as President; Mr. Thomas D. Brady, Vice President; Mr. Thomas Bell. Mr. Sunderland stated the objects of the meeting. The bosses had determined not to give in; so it remained for the men to say what course they would adopt and adhere to. In a conversation which he had with Mr. Fairington, of Eighth avenue, in the morning, he had pointed out to that employer the high pice of provisions, the increase in rent and other extra expenses which the journeymen now incurred. Mr. F. replied that he would not pay $2 a day to incompetent men, notwithstanding any rule of the body; and almost all the bosses had received upon the same thing. So it remained now for the workmen to atmid out and light their way through Mr. Sunderland reviewed the unhealthy nature of a painter's trade, and brought up all the arguments used during the late strikes with effect.

After some more observations, Mr. John Connon moved that a committee of thirteen, or as many as the meeting may think proper, be appointed and instructed, to draw up the rules and regulations of a Painters' Union, and that these regulations he submitted to a gameral meeting of the trade for approval or amendment. Carried.

Mr Erany moved that the same committee be also instructed to name permanent officers for the society. The amendment was adopted.

Committee on Laws.

Alderman Shiffs seconded this motion.

Alderman Danman did not see why it should be referred.

Alderman Danmax did not see why it should be referred.

In his opinion, it should be at once adopted.

Alderman Domerry—The law creating the Central Park authorizes the Common Conneil to direct the Counsel for the Corporation to appoint commissioners to lay out the Central Park. Upon the face of the thing, the people are in favor of the Central Park, and the Board were also are in favor of the Central Park, and the Board were also in favor of it, in place of that of Jones's Wood. The people and the community at large, and the majority of the Cenmon Council, have expressed themselves in favor of the Central Park, as being most convenient and better sdapted for the purpose of a park.

Alderman Twiss—The Legislature had always been in favor of the Central Park, but they have not designated which park we will purchase. They were to have the Jones's Wood Park, that was certain; and, if they liked, they could also purchase the central one also.

Alderman Danman thought that the Legislature did not intend that the public should have to pay for the Jones's Wood Park gline Central Park would be purchased by assessing the adjacent property holders. He did not believe that the Comptroller, with these facts staring him in the face, would go to the expense of paying for two parks.

Alderman STURENYANT mored that the resolution be re-parks.

Alerman Sturkeyant moved that the resolution be referred to an appropriate committee for the time being.

Alderman Donkity—Would it not be better to lay the resolution on the table until a copy of the actrelating to the Park should be placed in the hands of the chair, when they could at once adopt or refer it. Surely, if the act has not been read it should be read.

Alderman Denman her rose, and said he would withdraw his resolution.

Alderman STURTEVANT moved that the resolution be remittee to examine further into tases charges, and he for cee sould not be willing to serve on that committee.

Alderman Domerri.—The members of this Board are well aware of the rolema duty they own to will reacily admit that it surphing the Board will reacily admit that it surphing the Board will reacily admit that it surphing the Board will reacily admit that it surphing a surphine or form, it is their duty to denounce at once any such violation of the city colarones. In order that, they might come into full possession of allathe facts connected with the Lee, it was necessary to nave a rigid lowestic gation. The members of the board would readily admit that they were the public servants, and they, in his opinion, would be measily guilty of perjuty if they did not investigate fully into crimes committed by any department of the city. The people of the city sent them there for the purpose of keepings a witchful eye over all those who were, it was written the money of the committee of and living the tool that the board came there to stifle the demanded investigation—were they to give them full scope in plundering the people, or were shap to peform that solemn duty they owed to that constituents? He felt humilisted when he heard a member of this Board say that "he did not think it was procer for the committee to investigate the charges and procer for the committee to investigate the charges and procer for the committee to investigate the charges and procer for the committee to investigate the charges and procer for the committee to show any member of the Board to step up and say he would not feel stung to the quick on being a ked to further rowestigate the charges and the single of the contract of the contract in him. He whed he could say that no nember of the Board would, under any consideration, attempt to stifle as it quity made for the purpose of associations are well as a suppose of this city. The first part of the resolution is adouted, the whole of the contract was legally association to the house of the ho length, closing by saying he hoped that the resolution would be adopted, without striking out any portion of it whatever.

Alderman Twizzo—We have not the power to call in Tom, Dick and Harry, and question them concerning this affair. We cannot get this proof that the Alderman of the Nineteenth offers to present.

Alderman Docmery—I'll bring you the witnesses mighty quick.

Alderman Twizzo then continued his remarks without interruption. He said that the committee had endeavored to perform their duty strictly and impartially to the Street Commissioner. honorably to their fellow members of the Board, and faitbfully to their constituents is general. The committee had no festing in the matter, and whiched as his friend, of the Nineteenth, a strict inquiry into the affair. But he again declared that they had no power to examine these witnesses, and he, for one, did not wish to serve on that committee, if the resolution was adopted. He did not like to see a gentleman rise up and statelithings that were not true. There was no member of the Board liked better to see justice, truth and fair play than did the speaker. He strongly objected to the committee getting any further power to investigate the charges. They had received all the power the C. mmon Counsil could give them. They had performed their duty to the best of their endeavors to their constituents and the other members of the Board. The first portion of the recointion should be adopted, but that part which refers to the individuals in question should be struck out.

Alderman Denkan—The Street Commissioner has a character to preserve, and if the committee refuse to take any testimony that is offered against him, they will be posting a stain upon his good name that never will be washed out.

Alderman Twizzo—The gentleman of the Sixteenth does not take a right view of the matter. He is befogged, and tries to befog others. If the testimony is submitted, what weight will it have? None: I am sure.

Alderman Tourker—The ties for the Board to determins.

what weight will it have? Nome. I am sure.

Alderman Dederty—That is for the Board to determine.

Alderman Tweed—No, it's not. It is for the countitee to judge—for their convenience, and for the convenience of all. It is better not to hear so much hearsay testimony.

Ades man Denman did not see any heavesy testimony about it. They could produce witnesses, and that was plain enough, he was sure.

Alderman Denman —The gentleman of the Seventh compains dreasfully of the power to be invested in the committee, and also that they cannot compel witnesses to attend. He likewise says that they do not wish to be overbut thened with the business of investigation. The speaker would not like to destroy the almost gigantic frame of the alderman of the Seventh, by keeping him at such hard labor as he represents it to be. He recommended them to pursue the investigation, and after they had performed their duty, fearlessly, the commissioner would be acreened from all insinuations, the members of the board would be rejoiced, and the people would be easisted.

Alderman Twind moved to strike out the last six lines of the resolution referring to the contractors, and all those er gaged in the said contract.

A MENDER moved that the resolution be read.

The clerk then read the paper.

Alderman Bonkery moved that the gentleman of the Seventh should put his motion in writing, in order to let the public know his sentiments.

Alderman Busicky, who had herefore taken no part in the debate, rose and said, that in his judgment none of the resolution should be struck out.

The ayes and nays were then called on striking out, which was lost by the vote of four in the affirmative and seven in the negative.

The confinal resolution was then, without any more delay immediately adopted.

The Board, atter the transaction of some other business, adjourned until Wednesday evening at five o'clock.

New York Horticultural Society. This association held its regular monthly meeting at its rooms, No. 600 Broadway, last evening. The attend-ance was alim, probably owing to the fact that the heavy rain in the afternoon prevented many of the rus urban members from attending.

There, was quite a brilliant display of roses and cut flowers by Mr. Charles Moore. Also a few specimens of pears, including the "Bloodgood," "Dearborn's Seed-ling" and the "Madame Petite" varieties. At eight o'clock, Mr. MEAD, Recording Secretary, called the meeting to order.

In the absence of the President and all the Vice-Presilents, Mr. Oaklay took the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. JAMES Hogo, from the committee on the subject of btaining ground for use of the society as a harticul-ural garden, made a verbal report. He stated that the great object was in a fair way for success. The friends of the society in the Common Council had always bean of the society in the Common Council had always been willing to give them the ground, but were hampered by the law of the State, which provided that the Common Council should have no power to give the use of such land for any other purpose than that of a public ground. The speaker had been to Aluany, and procured the passege of an act giving power to the Common Council to grant land to this sciety for the purpose of a horticultural griden, and he had no doubt, that if the society should give the committee the necessary power, they could induce the Common Council to grant them a portion of Jones' Wood Park, lying between Sixty sixth and Seventy-lifth attreets, Second and Third avenues.

Vice President Groshox appeared, and took the chair.

Mr. Oakley said that it was necessary that the society should take actin on this subject immediately. He koow that there was a counter influence at work sgainst them, and it behoved the society to be up and doing. The opposition to this society had been secret, but none the less

Vice President Grossion appeared, and took the chair.

Mr. Oaklay said that it was necessary that the society should take sett non this subject immediately. He koew that there was a counter influence at work against them, and it behoved the society to be up and doing. The opposition to this society had been secret, but none the less powerful on that account. He had been carestly eaderwing to get some information on the nulpiet, but so secrety had every thing been carried on, that he had been smalled to obtain but little. He had heard, however, that the Assembly at its last session, had passed an net incorporating a company for the purpose of opening a lictancial Garden in connection with the Zoological Garden, and he presumed that this was the opposition to which the gentleman who had last spoken, (Mr. Hogg.) had alluded. He wanted as much light as possible on the subject, and he hoped that all the members would express their settliments on this important subject.

Mr. Hogg felt solled upon to explain. He mad heard of this opposition referred to when at Albuny, and though he could not find out where it came from, it was none the less vigorous on that account. The matter was carried on accretily, and quietly, and he had some of the shreadest men of the "third house" against him. He wanted the society to act on the subject at once, he was willing to believe that he had friends in the Common Cuncil who would full their places—at least for the society, and though rome might desire to wait mail sixty honest men took the place of those now at the City Hall, yet he believed that those who were there now, were as good as those who would fall their places—at least for this purpose. If the Society desired to carry its point as all, now west the nacepted time. Mr. Hogg coreluded his remarks by urging the recessity of immediate action.

Apourt 1.—His Hosor the Recorder in the chair.

The rell was called at twenty minutes to 5 o'clock, but a quorum not being present, the sagacious sergeant atarns was despatched for an alterman—one only being required to constitute the board. The sergeant, however, returned almost breathless, without having caught a number present be recorded, and the board adjourn. This motion sid not seem to be generally appreciated, and the members present patiently waited, with the hope of forming a board, until five minutes to five o'clock, when the call of the house was again moved, and it still lacked a quorum. Alderman Oakley suggested that they should wait a few minutes more, as some supervisor might come in to attend the Board of Aldermen, and the supervisors could then be constituted so as to enable them to adjourn. At length an alderman came in, and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with. No business was transacted, and the board adjourned to next Wednesday.
